CORRECTING AND REPLACING Denny's Corporation Appoints New Board Chair; Debra Smithart-Oglesby to Succeed Robert E. Marks

SPARTANBURG, S.C., May 25, 2006 (BUSINESS WIRE) -- Please replace the release dated May 24, 2006 with the following corrected version due to multiple revisions.

The corrected release reads:

DENNY'S CORPORATION APPOINTS NEW BOARD CHAIR; DEBRA SMITHART-OGLESBY TO SUCCEED ROBERT E. MARKS

The Board of Directors for Denny's Corporation (NASDAQ:DENN) named Debra Smithart-Oglesby as Board Chair following its Annual Meeting held today in Spartanburg, S.C. A 15-year finance and food service veteran, Smithart-Oglesby has served as CFO of Brinker International, Inc. and is a board member for Noodles & Company. She is currently president of O/S Partners, an investment capital and consulting services firm. She succeeds Robert E. Marks, who continues to serve on the Board.

"Since I became a Denny's board member in 2003, I've had the pleasure of working with Directors and Management in the turnaround of the company and in helping Denny's achieve a more manageable capital structure. I look forward to playing an integral role in Denny's achieving future success as a great restaurant operating company," said Smithart-Oglesby.

Denny's CEO and President Nelson J. Marchioli stated: "As we transition Denny's into the next phase of growth, Debra will be a tremendous advantage with her financial and restaurant background. Her experience with franchisees will be invaluable as Denny's continues to strengthen and grow its franchise base and move the brand forward in a profitable direction."

"Our sincere appreciation is extended to Rob Marks for his leadership as Chair during the past two years and his continued service as Chair of the company's Audit and Finance Committee," Marchioli added.

Smithart-Oglesby earned a master's in business administration from Southern Methodist University and holds a bachelor's degree in accounting from the University of Texas at Arlington.
