

Nexmo, the Vonage API Platform, Releases New Enterprise Plan

March 14, 2018

The Nexmo Enterprise Plan is First in Industry to Include Unlimited Voice in the USA

HOLMDEL, N.J., March 14, 2018 /PRNewswire/ -- Vonage (NYSE: VG), a business cloud communications leader, today announced the release of a new enterprise plan, featuring unlimited voice usage in the USA and a unique set of onboarding services to enable larger organizations to create custom solutions from the ground up with little or no developer resources.

"One of the greatest challenges for enterprises to adopt cloud communications is that each organization is unique in the amount of resources they need to launch projects," said Eric Le Guinie, senior vice president of worldwide sales for Nexmo, the Vonage API Platform. "With the new enterprise plan, our unlimited voice offering delivers clear and transparent pricing that is advantageous to enterprises as they scale up usage of the Nexmo Voice API, and our service teams deliver ongoing support for a seamless experience."

Key highlights of Vonage's enterprise plan include:

Programmable Voice with Vonage

- Unlimited Voice* in the USA offers enterprises unlimited inbound and outbound voice using Vonage's carrier-grade network, which is unique among any other offering within the business cloud communications space. (*Subject to fair usage policy)

Enterprise Onboarding Services

- Premium Support: A dedicated engineering support team helps customers address and immediately resolve issues, produces regular custom reports, and offers expert interpretation of analysis generated.
- Customer Success Manager: Dedicated account team member oversees account relationships, advocates for desired new features, and gives updates about the product roadmap.
- Solution Consulting: Dedicated consultants accelerate onboarding for Nexmo CLI and the use of SDKs and APIs, while also delivering solution architecture, configuration, and testing of communication applications.

The Nexmo Enterprise Plan is a set of eleven unique program, product, and platform features built specifically with enterprises in mind and is available globally. Stop by the Vonage booth (1906) at Enterprise Connect to learn more, or request a consultation.
