Verisk CEO Lee Shavel to Assume Role as President, as Mark Anquillare Steps Down

12/1/2022

JERSEY CITY, N.J., Dec. 01, 2022 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Verisk (Nasdaq: VRSK), a leading global data analytics provider, announced that Mark V. Anquillare is stepping down from Verisk as of January 15, 2023. Anquillare has been serving as president and chief operating officer since May 2022. Chief Executive Officer Lee M. Shavel will assume the role of president, serving concurrent roles as president and CEO.

“Mark has been a terrific partner and a dedicated and accomplished leader at Verisk for more than three decades. We are grateful for his leadership and many contributions that have expanded the ways we support our customers and fostered a culture of customer-centricity, innovation and collaboration,” said Lee Shavel, Verisk CEO. “We have an experienced leadership team that will continue to advance how we enable the strategic priorities of the global insurance industry.”

Anquillare has been instrumental in growing the company’s insurance vertical and aligning the company’s enterprise risk assessment and management with its core operations. He joined Verisk in 1992 and has held a number of leadership positions of increasing responsibility. He served as CFO during the company’s IPO in 2009 and through 2016. In 2016, Anquillare was named COO and led the company’s insurance vertical.

“It has been an immense honor to help Verisk grow from its modest, non-profit roots into a global organization that plays a crucial role in supporting and advancing the important work of the global insurance industry,” Anquillare said. “As I leave Verisk, the company is uniquely positioned to address the opportunities and challenges before the industry by ushering in a new era of innovations.”
