Tennant Company Granted Interim Injunction Against Kärcher's False Statements About ec-H2O™ Advertising

4/10/2012

German Court Prohibits Kärcher from Spreading Disparaging Information

MINNEAPOLIS--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Apr. 10, 2012-- Tennant Company (NYSE: TNC), a world leader in designing, manufacturing and marketing of solutions that help create a cleaner, safer, healthier world, today announced that the Regional Court in Cologne, Germany, has granted Tennant an interim injunction against Alfred Kärcher GmbH & Co. KG. The court's decision, effective immediately, means that Kärcher is no longer allowed to state that Tennant has weakened its ec-H2O™ advertising claims, and Kärcher must immediately remove all such statements from the Internet. If future violations to the court's decision occur, Kärcher could be forced to pay a fine of up to €250,000 EUR (approximately $327,000 USD) to the German state.

Tennant sought and was granted the injunction after Kärcher refused Tennant's request to cease and desist in spreading false information about Tennant's ec-H2O advertising.

Commented Chris Killingstad , Tennant Company's president and chief executive officer: "We are pleased with the court's actions to halt the spread of disparaging statements by a competitor. We stand behind our ec-H2O technology and the many benefits that ec-H2O provides customers worldwide."

Tennant's proprietary ec-H2O technology electrically converts water into an innovative cleaning solution that cleans effectively, saves money, improves safety and reduces environmental impact.
